Business Spotlight: Cake By Kaity

By Aimee Bingham Osinski anbingham@gmail.com

For a year or so, I've seen a local baker on social media as I scroll. Cake By Kaity creates the most delicious-looking cake pops locally. As a sweets lover, I really wanted to learn more about the Chelsea business. Kaity Krontz started her business in March of 2022. She bakes out of her home.

Kaity's business really started to take off when she began selling cake pops at Sounds and Sights on Thursnights. Katina Blanchard at Copper Crate Mercantile and Unique Rentals offered Kaity vendor space in the Alley on West Middle Street. Word began to spread and Kaity gained regular customers. Once Sounds and Sights was over those regulars began ordering for special occasions and holidays throughout the year.

Kaity has always enjoyed baking but never thought of it as a passion before starting the business. But now she really enjoys the creativity it gives and how Chelsea is a great place each order pushes her to try something new. Her most popular product is her funfetti cake pops. Kaity finds the fact confusing because she is a chocolate gal.

Kaity really enjoys being a part of Chelsea's special events. She's had pop-ups with Robin Hills, Ugly Dog Distillery, Withington's, The Collins off Main, and Farm Sudz. You may have tried a cake pop at one of her pop-ups at the annual Christmas Parade, Wine Women and Shopping Chocolate Extravaganza, Sounds and Sights, Backyard Beer Garden, and Robin Hills Farm Holiday events. Cake by Kaity will have a popup at the Backyard Beer Garden if you haven't had a chance to try her goodies. Kaity Dreams of being a vendor at the Finder Keepers Market someday.

ty's small businesses." This made Kaity more comfortable and conmaking her cake pops. "The people here are truly so kind, generous and supportive." Kaity explains that she has had so many new relationships and friendships since starting her business and that she's very grateful.

Kaity is available fident once she started for custom cake pop orders year-round. She loves creating pops to fit her customers specific needs and being challenged by their specific themes. Cake pops are the perfect handheld addition for birthdays, showers, weddings, and any celebration. Keep an eye out for special offerings during the winter holi-Customers can order by phone at (419) 973-1152 or email cakebykaity@yahoo.com, or message her on Instagram or Facebook.

SENIOR MOMENT (s) as a Volunteer

There are smiles all around as senior volunteers provide program and organizational support to local organizations.

Submitted by Maurine Nelson

Senior moments are everywhere in Chelsea! What are these moments? They are seniors, aged 55 plus, helping numerorganizations provide programs to all by volunteering their time and skills. The benefit to individual senior volunteers is well-documented. They benefit from the socialization and the sense of accomplish-experience and providing a sense of purpose, and social interaction. One recent Chelsea volunteer declared, "Volunteering saved my life!" But how do the organizations benefit? Are the volunteers' contributions helpful? Necessary? A sampling of several organizations found that 50 to 95 percent of all programs implemented by Chelsea organiza-ment in lending their tions are supported by senior volunteers.

Senior volunteers also provide valuable time to the implementation programs so it saves money for the organization. Seniors serving on committees and within the organization share expertise from their previous occupations, and help organizations to formulate meaningful and needed programming.

Fold, label, and process all mail that goes out to the community from the organization;

Volunteers also:

Provide "on-call" daily basis;

Help with functions of the organization, such as clerical tasks, answering phones, and providing an extra set of eyes on program development.

Bill O'Reilly, Executive Director of the Chelsea Senior Center said, could not be who we are and serve the population we do without the substantial help from senior ments at organizavolunteers." Another executive declared, "We could not survive without senior volunteers; the entire organization and its service to others is implemented by volunteers."

Recruiting volunteers is challenging in today's 'busy' environment. However, a majority of the volunteers don't need a specific skill set, only a willingness to help out and a desire to do a good job. When necessary, on-the-job training is provided by an organizational volunteer coordinalast-minute help on a tor. A few positions working with vulnerable people may require background checks or meeting program requirements.

> Primary recruiting venues include:

1. Online advertising on social media, website information, word of mouth, and newsletters;

2. Inviting inmember drive:

3. Announcetional meetings;

4. Advertising specific tasks in a local news publication.

More than 30 organizations and associations in the Chelsea area depend on volunteer support to maintain their level of program offerings. Direct calls to organizations about volunteer opportunities are always welcomed, and The Silver Solutions Network can assist in connecting potential volunteers to appropriate organizations. American 1 Credit Union's President/CEO, Martha Fuerstenau Appointed to Purple Rose Theatre of Chelsea Board of Directors

American 1 Credit Union announced that President/CEO, Martha Fuerstenau, joined the Purple Rose Theatre Board of Directors, located in Chelsea, Michigan.

The Purple Rose Theatre Company (PRTC) is the home of original world-class, American theatre, with roots in the Midwest that takes a handcrafted, artisanal approach to producing new and classic American plays that are nothing less than one-of-a-kind experiences.

"Martha Fuerstenau is a great example of someone who cares. Over the years, she volunteered her time and served on the boards of several important organizations in the Jackson area, all with the collective purpose of making where we live a better place," stated Jeff Daniels, Purple Rose Theatre Founder and Artistic Director. "Luckily for us, she's bringing that same energy, knowledge and sense of purpose to the Board of Directors at The Purple Rose Theatre Compa-

Fuerstenau, who has been part of American 1 since 1984, has held many leadership roles throughout her tenure and is also currently serving as the Chair of the Henry Ford Jackson Hospital Board, Vice Chair of the Enterprise Group, along with serving as a board member of the Economic Development Corporation of Jackson County. Her past volunteer work includes serving on the Michigan Theatre Board and the Ella Sharp Museum of Art & History Board, including President of the Board of the Ella Sharp Museum.

"Having high-quality, accessible arts and entertainment are important for our local communities," stated Fuerstenau. "As a fan of the Purple Rose Theatre Company, I could not be more honored to contribute my experiences through serving on the Board of Directors and ensuring access to a theater experience relatable to a midwestern, Michigan audience."

WASHTENAW CAMP

Washtenaw Camp Placement (WCP) is thrilled to announce a significant increase in the number of children served this summer camp season. Camperships were awarded to 161 children who would not have otherwise had the opportunity to attend camp. This is the largest number of campers WCP has sent since 2003. Children who receive camperships are given the opportunity to attend one or two week sleepaway summer camp, tuition free. Sleeping bags and other camping gear are also provided.

"By increasing our ability to serve more of the community we are able to positively impact the future trajectory of additional children," said Executive Director Matthew Tarver-Wahlquist. "Research shows that children who have been challenging to sleepaway summer camp are better prepared for life outside of the camp environment, and I am excited to be reaching more Washtenaw County children with our program." Overnight mer camp is a unique experience where children are immersed in an experience-oriented learning environment. After attending camp, children have a larger affinity for nature, more independence, more perseverance, and more social awareness. For example, activities such as swimming can help save lives while cooperative ropes courses can help build teamwork skills and confidence, potentially leading to improved academic success. The more years that a child is able to attend camp the larger their life impact will be. The skills and confidence gained in camp can transform the lives of children living in stances and lead to better long term success rates in college or vocational training, careers, and family.

One Ypsilanti parent said, "Camp was such a wonderful experience for my son. For the past week, he has recounted many positive memories from camp. My son enjoyed trying zip-lining, getting to know his peers and counselors, and giving fishing a try. My son has said a triumphant 'Yes' to any help I have requested this week. He's been so willing to chip in and assist me with simple tasks around the house. He has also been more expressive and appears more ready to engage in family conversation. Our family wants to say THANK YOU to WCP for all that each member of your team does to organize/prep/ plan/gather funds, etc., for camp. This is truly one of the best procontinued on page 9

Chelsea Fair: A Tradition Since 1872

According to a Chelsea Fair Chronical by Lloyd Grau, The first Agricultural Fair began in Chelsea in 1872. Fair is believed to be taken from the Latin word feria which means, "Holy day." According to yesterdaysamerica:

Roots of the American Fair, early fairs were usually leisure and religious celebrations." Agricultural Fairs, like the one held in Chelsea, started in the US around 1810. As a Midwesterner Fairs have been a part of nearly every Fall of my life. Fairs are as much a part of fall as the "The first day of school, bonfires, changing leaves, and cider mills.

This year, I initiated my daughter into the Fair tradition of the craft barn. My brother, sister, and I entered the Saline Fair with a cake we baked just for fun and we won! I'm still thrilled about it., nearly 40 years later. So, I wanted to introduce my daughter to the fun of a Fair. This year she baked from scratch chocolate cupcakes with ganache frosting. She had fun baking and got 3rd place. She got a ribbon and some prize money and was thrilled like I was with my cake. Maybe her children will get to experience the same thrill someday.

While contending with some wild weather, the fair was once again, a great success. Favorite events included: the demolition derby, Lost Nations Rodeo, and Ladies Day Program. Fair Parade and Sweepstakes Showmanship.

My daughter and

I admired the various skills on display in the craft barn; baking, canning, crafts, collections, hobbies and our favorite odd veggies were impressive and there's no shortage of talented people in Chelsea. As I was entering my daughter's cupcakes a 16-yearold was entering the most beautiful pies and the volunteers helping were great. They encouraged her to pursue her passion and make a career out of it. I was glad I didn't have to compete against her!

I followed the advice of the community online and bought food from the Kiwanas so the money went back to the community and I bought ice cream from the ice cream shop. The pretzel with cheese and ice cream did not disap-point and I was happy to support the community.

I caught a bit of the horse pulls. I don't know how they finished overall but I was rooting for Brandon, Studly, and his partner. name Studly stood out to me and given how strong he and his partner were, he was pretty studly. I was able to walk through the barns and watch as 4H children learned the family business, and how to feed the rest of us. I did not partake in rides but smiled at the bright colors and memories from my own childhood.

The 2023 Chelsea Fair was a great success and the community thanks the all-volunteer Fair Board for continuing to bring midwestern nostalgia and fun to Chelsea.

Johnny Cash is a cultural icon renowned for his award-winning music, distinctive style, authentic storytelling, and empathy towards the marginalized. Chel-District Library (CDL) is excited to host 1968: A Folsom Redemption—a collection of photographs and memories of two journalists lucky enough to be among a handful of eyewitnesses to the historic Johnny Cash concerts at Folsom Prison. This candid and personal photography exhibition covers a critical juncture in Cash's career, one of the twentieth century's most beloved performers. 1968: A Folsom Redemption will be in the historic McKune Room from September 1–October 20 and will be open to the public at no charge during regular library hours and closes 30 minutes prior to the library's closing.

In January 1968, Johnny Cash was at a crossroads. His music career, in a slow decline for several years, was in need of a smash hit. He had recently straightened out his personal life, and leadership changes at his record label meant he was able to finally convince them of the merits of a live recording in a prison setting. Cash had been performing for inmates as far back as 1957, when he received a stream of requests from prisoners who identified with the man who sang "Folsom Prison Blues." This connection developed with prisoners during these concerts had made him increasingly sympathetic to those he would later call "the downtrodden."

Working as freelance journalists, photographer Dan Poush and writer Gene Beley met with Cash and his family the day before the concerts began, at the invitation of Reverend Floyd Gressett, a friend of Cash's who ministered to inmates and helped set up the show at Folsom State Prison with Recreation Director Lloyd Kelley. After practicing the set with the Tennessee Three at Hotel El Rancho the night before, on January 13, 1968, Cash, along with opening acts Carl Perkins and the Statler Brothers, performed two separate shows in the dining hall at Folsom. Notable for capturing Cash's ability to connect with his audience, the recordings crackled with the excitement of an adoring crowd. The resulting album, At Folsom Prison, was released four months later to critical the storylines at work behind the make this a fascinating exploration of the little-known aspects of a well-known event in popular culture. 1968: A Folsom Redemption takes the viewer right into the heart of this pivotal moment in the life and career of one of the twentieth century's most important and cherished musical personalities.

The collection of thirty-one photos features a wide range of intimate photos with friends and family to a backstage meeting with country music legend Merle Haggard with the Man in Black. This exhibition highlights Cash's golden era from the January 1968 Folsom Prison album recording to a March 1, 1969 concert in Anaheim, California when he was getting ready to launch his network television show. 1968: A Folsom Redemption is organized by ExhibitsUSA, a program of Mid-America Arts Alliance. Special thanks to Rick Taylor Real Estate and the Friends of Chelsea District Library for their sponsorship of this exhibition.

INFORMATION: While at the station an officer took a report over the phone regarding a larceny of a mailbox. The complainant told the officer that on August 27th sometime between 1:00 am and 11:20 am an unknown suspect(s) had stolen a black metal mailbox off the post and taken it with them. The case was closed pending any further investigative leads.

WCP is excited about welcoming even more campers into the program in the future as the organization continues to grow. Additional support from generous organizations such as The United Way of Washtenaw County, The Speckhard-Knight Charitable Foundation, The Kiwanis Club of Ann Arbor, and donations from individuals in the community are creating additional campership opportunities. The higher the number of camperships that are awarded, the larger the overall positive impact will be for the youth of Washtenaw County and the community at large. WCP continues to look for additional partners in the com-

Kiwanis Club of Ann munity to help change Arbor, and donations the future for more defrom individuals in the serving children.
