Business Spotlight in AP: Bottoms Up N More

Pictured are owners of Bottoms Up N More: Krystal Haley, Kari Worden and Roxanne Barbas

By Charla Hamilton
charlachelseaguardian@gmail.com

Allen Park Guardian had the pleasure of speaking with Krystal Haley of Bottoms Up N More recently to learn more about the business. Read on to learn more!

Allen Park Guardian: Provide some background information on Bottoms Up N More, how long you have been in business, where did the idea come from for Bottoms Up etc?

Krystal Haley: The idea came from when we (myself, Kari Worden, and Roxanne Barbas) were all quarantining at home. When I was home off of work for months being a bartender things really came into perspective about how I wanted to be at work. I missed my job and my guests. I've worked at a family owned restaurant for 28 years called Leonardo's and I missed it immensely. Not working for months on end in the service industry wasn't easy. I love what I do, but I kept thinking to myself

• About 1 in 8 U.S. women (about 13%) will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of her lifetime.

• In 2021, an estimated 281,550 new cases of invasive breast cancer are expected to be diagnosed in women in the U.S., along with 49,290 new cases of non-invasive (in situ) breast cancer.

• About 2,650 new cases of invasive breast cancer are expected to be diagnosed in men in 2021. A man's lifetime risk of breast cancer is about 1 in 833.

• About 43,600 women in the U.S. are expected to die in 2021 from breast cancer. Death rates have been steady in women under 50 since 2007, but have continued to drop in women over 50. The overall death rate from breast cancer decreased by 1% per year from 2013 to 2018. These decreases are thought to be the result of treatment advances and earlier detection through screening.

• For women in the U.S., breast cancer death rates are higher than those for any other cancer, besides lung cancer.

• As of January 2021, there are more than 3.8 million women with a history of breast cancer in the U.S. This includes women currently being treated and women who have finished treatment.

• Breast cancer is the most commonly diagnosed cancer among American women. In 2021, it's estimated that about 30% of newly diagnosed cancers in women will be breast cancers.

• Breast cancer became the most common cancer globally as of 2021, accounting for 12% of all new annual cancer cases worldwide, according to the World Health Organization.

• In women under 45, breast cancer is more common in Black women than white women. Overall, Black women are more likely to die of breast cancer. For Asian, Hispanic, and Native-American women, the risk of developing and dying from breast cancer is lower. Ashkenazi Jewish women have a higher risk of breast cancer because of a higher rate of BRCA mutations.

• Breast cancer incidence rates in the U.S. began decreasing in the year 2000, after increasing for the previous two decades. They dropped by 7% from 2002 to 2003 alone. One theory is that this decrease was partially due to the reduced use of hormone replacement therapy (HRT) by women after the results of a large study called the Women's Health Initiative were published in 2002. These results suggested a connection between HRT and increased breast cancer risk. In recent years, incidence rates have increased slightly by 0.5% per year.

A PP ALLEN PARK ATHLETICS

ON THE SIDELINE: RAKING LEAVES, ANGELS, MISSIONARIES AND HEALING

By Don Richter
drichter101@comcast.net

Four and a half months.

It's been four and a half months since I foolishly jumped off the roof of my shed fracturing my tibia just below the knee, tearing my calf, twisting my ankle, bruising my heel and breaking a rib.

Last week I was able to actually ditch one of my crutches. My leg is healing and slowly, but surely, getting stronger. I recently was able to put weight on my injured leg for the first time since hurting myself all those months ago. I amazed myself last week by walking without the aid of my crutches from my refrigerator to my kitchen sink. It's about a 10-foot walk, but to me, it seemed as far away as looking from one end zone to the other on a football field. Upon reaching the sink without help from my trusty crutches, I broke out in my first real smile in four and a half months. I'll admit, I've been a little bitter and deflated losing an entire summer to my injury. But it felt good, really good to make it on my own strength to the sink. After so many "losses" since injuring my leg, it sure was nice to finally get a "win."

Progress.

Slow, but progress nonetheless.

I'll take it.

On a somewhat related note, angels come in all shapes and sizes. As a homeowner, yard work never ends it seems. Despite an injured leg, Mother Nature hasn't waited for me to heal. Recently, I've had to go out, with my crutches, to rake my lawn. I live on a corner and have a large front lawn. I also have three large trees on my front lawn, with two being large black walnut trees.

Every year around this time I have to not only rake up a ton of leaves, but also seemingly thousands of baseball-sized walnuts. It's always been a hard job, but it's been especially tough this year on crutches.

Enter my angels.

Or should I say, my "boys from Utah."

For the past couple weeks, each time I'm outside raking the leaves and walnuts, the "boys from Utah" have driven by my house, stopped their vehicle and helped me rake.

The three young men refuse to take money for their time and effort. They each are around 18 to 21-years-old or so. continued on page 6

JAGS WIN HOMECOMING 48-0 PLAYOFFS UP NEXT

By Tom Hamilton
tomchelseaguardian@gmail.com

The Allen Park Jags defeated Southgate Anderson 48-0 on October 22 to finish the season in second place with 7 wins and 2 losses. The Jags once again dominated with their rushing attack and defense. Allen Park ran the ball for 329 yards with an average of 12.2 yards per carry while shutting out the overmatched Anderson squad. Owen Alvarez lead the attack with 117 yards and a touchdown with Sunerio Hamilton adding 89 yards and 2 TD's on only 2 carries. Alex Alvarez toted the rock for another 77 yards and a touchdown. The Jags now shift their focus to the playoffs where they open up at Home against a 9-0 Riverview team tonight.

I must say, it's been very refreshing to meet such nice young people. I'm a spiritual person and we talk about religion a bit as we rake my lawn, but mostly we talk about what life in Utah is like. What the Rocky Mountains look like in person. How Utah rarely has cloudy days compared to Michigan's gray skies. How the Big House in Ann Arbor was one of most amazing sights they had seen since being in Michigan. They'd give anything to see a game there, they said.

self why not bring a mobile bar to people and to the Downriver area. I continued to talk about this with two of my friends Kari and Roxanne. They are my business partners with Bottoms Up N More. We all kept looking for trailers on marketplace, Craigslist etc. We finally found one and she needed some love. Good old Thelma. We purchased Thelma in Brighton. We went out to see this trailer and we bought it on a whim.

We have put hours into remodeling this trailer together all three of us.

We all are equal owners and want to give people a great experience at an event where they can relax and we do all the work. Our reality finally became a dream.

We want to give people a choice, to give people one less thing to worry about at their event. Also it gives us a chance to show what we can do, what we can bring. Have you ever given a great idea to somebody in charge just to watch nothing happen, and you say to yourself "if only I was in charge?" Who doesn't want to be their own boss? It's the freedom and the excitement. It's the adventure.

APG: Why did you choose to open the business in Allen Park?

KH: The reason we chose Allen Park is because I have raised two kids in this community for over 14 years and both my kids have been active in sports here from the Bulldogs, to the Panthers and then to the Jags and I couldn't ask for a better place to live and the outpouring love we have been receiving is amazing after starting a business here.

The greatness of a community is most accurately measured by the compassionate actions of its members and Allen Parkers are the BEST.

APG: What is your favorite thing about owning your own business?

KH: Our favorite thing about owning our own business is.... You Take on the Risk – And Reap the Rewards. We are ready to serve our community and downriver on wheels. Bottoms Up N More has so much to offer for any special event: weddings, graduation parties, kids parties with cute mocktails (non-alcoholic drinks) and baked goods, etc.

We can bartend any event and come to you!!! We are a Bartending service.

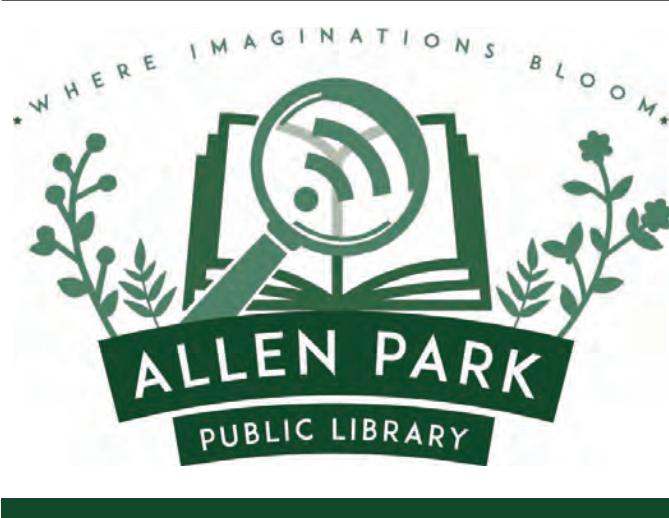

We provide talented and professional bartending for all occasions!

Our mobile bar is going to serve the downriver area and more. Our goal, Is to make the entire process, from the planning stage, to cleanup at the event, as easy as possible for you on your special day.

We can give you guidance on what type of alcohol, to how much you will need, Including garnishments and ice to keeping our bartenders stocked with everything we need for the successful event. That includes all our tools of trade, along with disposable cups, beverage napkins and straws.

With over 25 years of experience in bartending, serving, catering, banquet service, weddings, and fine dining, you can count on us to make your event a huge success! We are tips certified and licensed and insured.
