Mikey and Me, Local Dog Foster Celebrates 300 Adopted Dogs

By Aimee Bingham

A while back, someone shared photos of a cute dog on Facebook. I am a dog lover, so I took note. I realized the dog rescue, as I thought it was, was located in Chelsea. Through this story I learned that Mikey and Me is not a dog rescue, it's a dog foster. This past weekend, I had the opportunity to visit and meet Daniel DePew, the, "and me," part of Mikey and me. Mikey was the little furry bestie who inspired all this work to create a safe, happy in-between for dogs before getting continued on page 5

Winterfest! Fun For All at Chelsea's Michigan Friends Center

Contact Information:
Michigan Friends Center
Carolyn Holland

manager@mfcenter.org

On Sunday, March 3, the Michigan Friends Center will be reviving its Winterfest! open house. Last held in 2019, Winterfest! is an afternoon of activities to appeal to persons of all ages

A nature scavenger hunt for kids is planned, with acoustic guitar by local musician Dale Osborn as an indoor option. The scavenger hunt will be followed by cocoa and cookies, storytelling by Ann Arbor Storyteller's Guild member Lorelle Otis, and a didgeridoo performance by the Werderitsch's, a local father and son team. If the weather is right, participants are encouraged to bring sleds to enjoy nearby sledding.

"I think we all start to get a bit of cabin fever by late February and here is a chance to wear out the kids on an outdoor scavenger hunt, enjoy music, story telling, and the pleasure of each other's company. If you are in town, there is no better place to be!" said Pat Hopkinson, program host.

The Michigan Friends Center is a non-profit community and conference center two miles northwest of Chelsea located on the grounds of Friends Lake Community. The Center has been serving the Chelsea area for the past 30 years, offering both a facility for other groups to meet and public programs on environmental sustainability, peace and justice, and wholistic health (including spiritual growth).

"Groups of fewer than 100 find a renewed sense of connection with each other, the natural world, spirit or purpose, and even with themselves after time spent at the Center," said Carolyn Holland, Michigan Friends Center manager.

The event will be occurring from 2-5 Sunday March 3 at the Michigan Friends Center, 7748 Clark Lake Road, Chelsea, Michigan. There is no charge; donations will be cheerfully accepted.

"Please preregister if you can by calling the Friends Center (734)475-1892 or email manager@mfcenter.org. If you can't, we will still be happy to see you," said Holland.

Meet Acclaimed Authors During National Reading Month

Chelsea, a two-day event featuring nationally recognized, award-winning children’s authors. In partnership with the Chelsea School District, Authors in Chelsea includes assemblies and workshops for more than 1,000 Chelsea students in grades 1–6, bringing quality authors into classrooms to inspire students and encourage a love of reading and writing. To prepare for the March 19–20 event, hundreds of books by visiting authors were delivered to Chelsea School District courtesy of Chelsea Education Foundation.
This year’s visiting authors include Saadia

Faruqi, Beth Vrabel, and K.A. Holt.
Saadia Faruqi is a Pakistani American author and interfaith activist who writes books for readers of all ages. Her most popular series, Yasmin, has twenty titles and follows the life of a spunky second-grade Pakistani American girl named Yasmin as she creatively works through everyday problems. A Kirkus Starred Review states, “Readers will be charmed by this one-of-a-kind character... Utterly satisfying.” Ms. Faruqi will visit 1st and 2nd grade students at North Creek Elementary School.
Beth Vrabel is the author of more than a dozen books for middle grade readers, including The Newspaper Club, A Blind Guide to Stinkville, and To Tell You the Truth. Beth’s realistic fiction focuses on friendships, family, and kids who learn to stand tall and solve problems in their everyday lives. Ms. Vrabel will visit South Meadows Elementary School to present to 3rd, 4th, and 5th grade students.

Kari Anne (K.A.) Holt is the award-winning author of several middle grade novels-in-verse. Dedicated to showing kids that anyone can be the main character of a book, she writes a variety of books in and about poetry. Ms. Holt will visit 6th grade students at Beach Middle School. In an interactive presentation Holt will explore where ideas come from, what makes a good story, and how to write interesting characters.

Authors in Chelsea is about more than school visits! In addition to their time in the classrooms, this year’s authors will be featured at An Evening with the Authors, which is open to the public and free of charge. The event will take place on Tuesday, March 19, at 6:30pm in the Washington Street Education Center Board Room located at 500 Washington Street, Chelsea, MI. Don’t miss this exclusive opportunity to hear each author share their journey into the world of writing, participate in Q&A sessions, and get your books personally signed by the authors. Families, homeschoolers, lovers of youth and teen literature, and even aspiring children’s authors are encouraged to attend. The first 20 families to arrive will receive a coupon for a free book! Books will also be available for purchase courtesy of local Chelsea bookstore, Serendipity Books.

Authors in Chelsea is possible thanks to the Chelsea District Library, the Chelsea School District, the Chelsea Education Foundation, Serendipity Books, and the Friends of the Chelsea

District Library. Special thanks goes to South Meadows Principal Stacie Battaglia for her years of support of this event.
About Us: Chelsea District Library (CDL) is a not-for-profit organization whose mission is to engage, inspire, and equip through evolving services and resources. ## Harmony, balance and walking your dog

By Michael Patterson. LMSW
I have a border collie named Lucky. He insists on getting my full attention. He will whine, push his head under my hand as I lay on the couch, smile at me or use is puppy dog eyes to elicit sympathy. Oh, he gets a lot of attention. But I guess if you were to ask him he would surely say “it’s not enough.” To be honest he really does not ask for much. Good dog food and occasional human food. A soft bed or couch to lay on. Lots of hugs and petting. And he loves to go out on adventures. How does he pay for this? Well, He does let us know when someone is at the front door. He listens. He gives unconditional love. He models how to be calm and be in harmony with his world. It is so easy for him. As long as a family member is with him, he is happy.

A friend of mine had a health scare about a year ago. He has taken up hiking in the woods with an almost obsessive passion. He had to retire from his business due to his health condition. At first, this was very difficult for him as he felt a loss of purpose in life. Hiking the trails around his home has brought back a sense of accomplishment and vitality to his life. Not to mention it helped him to drop 70 plus pounds. About two months ago he was down in South Carolina. He just took off by himself to try a section to the Appellation Trail. He texted me a picture when he reached the top of a small mountain. I called him when I received the picture. I heard in his voice something that I had lost. Pure joy and reverence for the beauty that surrounds us if we just go looking for it. Later on, he talked me into training to hike a five-day section of the Appellation trail in late summer or early fall. So we meet about once per week to hike together (he kicks my butt right now). On other days I go out alone on the trails that surround my home or are close by. I am blessed in living near two state recreation areas that have a good trail system. Some days, when I can have Lucky off his leash, I take him with me. As with any exercise regimen, the first fifteen to twenty minutes are the most difficult. My mind goes through this ritual of identifying every ache and pain, questioning why I am doing this at my age. And how comfortable cozy my couch is. Once I finish this mind ritual I get into the rhythm of the trail and the harmony of the forest. I have noticed that Lucky does not suffer from the agonies of the mind. He goes right into harmony mode. He will smell every smell, see every tree, hear every bird or squirrel, and of course let all the other animals know he has been there by marking his passing. How does one bladder hold so much pee is beyond me?

Many years ago I saw a book titled Chop Wood, Carry Water. I never read the book but I always remember that title. For me, it tells how to find joy in simple activities. I found this to be true when I scrape paint off of wood. Most find this work tedious. I found it calming. I loved to be outside up on a ladder leaning against the side of my century-old house, scraping the multiple layers of paint off of the old wood. With music playing or just the rustle of leaves dancing to the rhythm of the breeze, the sun peeking through the shadows onto the surface of the wood. I found peace. I found simple joy.

Making an effort to do the simple things in life can bring a sense of harmony and peace when you are feeling overwhelmed or just plain stressed out. It is easy to make excuses to not go outside, meet up with close friends, scrape and paint wood, or go for a walk with your dog. But then you miss out on simple joy, harmony, and the balance of a life well lived.

In 1994 Daniel purchased a dairy farm on Freer Rd. He had a lot of land and a vacant crumbling dairy barn. He wanted to foster dogs about to lose their chance in shelters. The seed of an idea grew like crazy from there. His friends encouraged him to set up a Facebook page. Rather than simply ask the community for funding, he funded the remodel of the lower level of the empty dairy barn through donations of goods from the local community. He picked up items people were willing to part with. He organized and priced the items and held two enormous barn sales, each one taking about six months of work.

Using that money Daniel was able to close up the lower level of the barn to keep the elements out and spray insulation to keep the dogs safe and warm. Someone donated a fairly new furnace and the barn is now as cozy as a home. Daniel's love for dogs shines through in the interview. He did not want to cram dogs in small kennels like the kind they probably endured at rescues. He brought in seven spacious kennels, each the size of a small room.

He took me back from the front room, rebuilt by a twelve-year-old working on his Eagle Scout Badge. I was given a tour and the opportunity to meet the fosters. I warned him that my love for dogs may make me want to adopt, but that I have two at home and am not in the position. He gave me a knowing smile. He'd heard this story before from his volunteer dog walkers, of which, had adopted about 9 dogs. Daniel is currently set on volunteers and has enough so that these little fosters get about 4 walks per day and some play, and snuggle time. He even has a heated play, and snuggle area inside the barn so that when Michigan weather is too unpleasant for walks the dogs are afforded snuggles and a place to get the zoomies out. These dogs also have an outside playground and walking paths through the vast property. Daniel has created the perfect foster spot for dogs who have been lost from their families or up until this point, have had unfortunate lives. He's giving the sweet little pure-hearted babies a wonderful bit of hope.

Daniel teamed up with Happy Days Dog and Cat Rescue. The dogs come fully vetted and Daniel is careful to select dogs that are safe for his volunteers and for the public. The dogs are fixed and receive shots before adoption. Adoption fees go straight to Happy Days to cover the cost of vet care for the animals. Local pet stores donate bags of kibble which keeps costs down for Daniel. If you can't adopt at the moment, Daniel welcomes donations of canned dog food, which can be stored.

He also accepts donations of long-lasting treats, no raw-hide but other options such as No-Hide chews. Raw-hide can be a choking hazard for dogs and dogs need to be watched with rawhide, at all times, which is simply not feasible. Mikey and Me has hit the 300 dogs adopted milestone, including the nine they nursed to health from heartworm. The average dog at Mikey and Me is 2-3 years old. Daniel is temperament but not breed-selective. As the owner of two bully breeds, who are two of the gentlest, nicest dogs, I've ever owned, this makes sense. Mikey and Me finds homes for 36-40 dogs per year and creates a happy place to stay for those in need of a home. If you're looking to adopt, check out Mikey and Me's Facebook page. It's a rotating slideshow of adorable sweet dogs looking to help you make your house a home.

Lorcana Draft, Secret Crisis Comics

By Aimee Bingham

I have no idea what Lorcana is and I have no idea what a Lorcana Draft is. I do know what the draft is in football. I know that a draft involves a selection of players for a team. I walked into Secret Crisis Comics for the first time ever. I was stepping out of the world in which I walk around comfortably. Suddenly, I was in the dumb girl role in the show The Big Bang Theory. If you’ve watched the show, you’ve seen her at Penny’s apartment. She may be interested in useless pop culture things and know nothing of deep thought and Dungeons and Dragons. She is ultimately boring and uniformed regarding the things that interest Leonard and Sheldon and is never seen again.

I noticed the board to my left in the vestibule. It featured tacked in requests for D and D players (Dungeons and Dragons for us simpletons who watch the Real Housewives). It was essentially a help wanted board for people wanting to commit and play a role in someone’s game. Though, I suspect I may have the story telling skills to help make a game interesting, I lack any base knowledge to fit in with a group of well versed players. Immediately, I recognized a friendly face, a fellow mom from my Momco group. I felt a little more confident because there was a welcoming smile. I also recognized a man from the Secret Crises Comics booth at several events in Chelsea. I figured he must own the store so I asked if I could take his picture, explained I was in the store to write an article for the event. He was slightly suspicious at first because he’d had people trying to create viral videos so he maintains a no photos, videos policy. I assured him, I wasn’t planning on doing a hit piece on him. In Journalism a hit piece is the lowest form. A piece meant to attack integrity or uncover salacious bits about people. One of the reasons I love my job, even in the current climate of journalists being universally hated, is that I don’t do hit pieces. I share the small beauties and positive things within the community. If you want more ugly attack journalism go to CNN or Fox and watch the ugly unfold. I’ve had enough ugly so, I’ll show Chelsea the beautiful right next door.

And, I found it in Secret Crisis Comics. After a little internet stalking, I discovered that Todd Diziobak is the owner and the man, on which, I promised a no hit piece. I asked if my nine year-old would be able to play. He explained that it’s for any age gesturing to show the people gathered to play. He stated that there were families enjoying it together and stated that he loved that. The cards are Disney themed. The man running the event began explaining the rules as people took spots at the table. He moved people to different areas of the long rectangular table toward the back of the store and stated that he was, “trying to break families up,” which I promised would go in my article. But rather than be destructive, he was trying to ensure fair play for everyone. He explained things and I had the distinct feeling that everyone pretty much understood what would happen already. I understood, “don’t create piles, it gets confusing,” and “round 1 passes to the left, round two to the right.” After he handed out the decks and round one started he apologized to me for not having his speech down and explained he usually runs Magic the Gathering events and he’s a lot better at that. I explained that he’s speaking foreign language and for all I knew he could have been explaining String Theory to Phd students. I thought he did great! He was friendly, and kind and also very tolerant of my ignorance.

I observed and it was exactly like a draft. The player received three or four packs, opened them one at a time, selected a card and passed the deck. I saw Dalmations, Fantasia themed cards and all the Disney anyone could want. I walked up to the woman behind the counter and inquired about how people selected cards, she explained that there are attributes written on the bottom and people may select based on what the card can do. Or some people might make a team out of all Dalmations or she showed me various symbols at the bottom. Some were mass produced and some were super special and rare. She suggested if I want to learn to play, YouTube would be a good place to learn. She kindly wrote down the info for me so I could learn. I’m an outcast in stores like this but everyone was so nice and welcoming! The players helped my friend’s son Felix learn to safely open his cards without bending the edges. And, his mom, Erin, who got roped into playing (by me pushing and encouraging) so there was a nice even number was given a mat to use and her neighbor offered to share sleeves to place her team.

The beauty of the store in Secret Crisis Underground Comics, is even if you are ignorant and out of place, the staff and community within will welcome you as if you are an important part. They will tolerate your ignorance and encourage you to learn. I came home after the event and shared how kind and wonderful everyone was with my husband. He nodded saying he’d had a great experience Christmas shopping and the staff was great. Definitely go browse comics, and the huge variety of games and collectibles. If you’re into Magic the Gathering, The new Lorcana game, or based on the website events page, Murder at Karlov Manner, check out <https://secretcrisis-comics.com/calendar/>. If you’ve never read a comic in your life and you select titles based on family members the staff won’t thumb their nose, they’ll nod, “Ohh cool.” And you will try not to say, “who me?” sheepishly. Thank you Secret Crisis Comics for a wonderful introduction into card game play and comics. You’ve created a wonderful store and little community in Chelsea. I’m coming back to play Lorcana and fully plan on learning and getting really good some day. So what if I only like cards with puppies on them?

Adult Learners Institute Announces its March Lineup

In addition to St. Patrick's Day and the first day of Spring, the month of March also provides the following intellectual stimulation, courtesy of ALI.

Walking in Our Grandfathers' Footsteps is the name of Wendy Zielen's class on March 4 when she shares stories of the men who served in one of history's most tragic catastrophes, World War I, the Great War. The stories of their courage, heroism and pain are revealed in historical records and artifacts, as well as in their personal memories.

Hank Muir asks that one refrain from dancing to the melodies of the first half of the twentieth century in his American Musical Theater classes on March 6 and 13. However, he does allow toe tapping to music from Tin Pan Alley through Bing Crosby, Judy Garland, Nat King Cole, Rock n' Roll, and even some singers we have never heard of.

Ann Beyer's March 8 class, What's Up? Wolf Ethology introduces ethology, the science of behavior, and she suggests that the behavior of wolves may explain some traits of human behavior. She has made several trips to the International Wolf Center in Ely, Minnesota, where she has learned much the relationship of these animals not only to their own habitat, but also to what they can tell us about ourselves.

We have all experienced that unexpected "hunch" that alerts us that something dangerous or harmful or possibly quite wonderful is coming at us. But when the moment passes, we tend to dismiss its significance. Beverly Fish thinks we should take that "hunch" seriously, and in her classes on March 11 and 18, Developing Your Psychic Ability and Spiritual Self, she will discuss ways in which we can enhance our intuitive abilities, not just occasionally but in our everyday lives.

Susan Nenadic's classes on March 20, April 3 and 10, Aging: Three Films Finding Joy in New Relationships, upend the notion that aging is simply a matter of rocking chairs and pills. The three films focus on an English woman who moves to a boarding house in London, a French lady who befriends a man considered "not too bright", and an 84-year old former Mau Mau warrior from Kenya who wants to learn how to read.

Unless you are unconscious, you may find it difficult to avoid becoming at least a little distraught occasionally. Reverend Dr. Price cannot promise to remove the sources of our anxiety but his March 22 class, Decision Making and Anxiety will show how to hit the reset button when "S**t happens. He advises students to bring along their questions as well as their sense of humor.

Trisha Terns' trained ear for language has allowed her to figure out how to harness thought and language to work more effectively to enhance our health, wealth and relationships. Her March 27 class, Mindfulness and the Art of Internal Language is an engaging dive into the principles of neuro-linguistics, a tool that you probably never knew existed but one that can enhance memory and provide strategies for effective communication

Is an Electric Vehicle in Your Future? is the question explored by John Daly in this class on March 25. Most of us have to admit that we really don't know much about them. While most EV owners charge their vehicles at home, they also need public chargers. However, not all EVs can use every public charger, and various charger types recharge EVs at different speeds. This class simplifies matters and helps you decide if, indeed, an EV is in your future.

Catalogs containing more information on these and ALI's other Winter/Spring classes, as well as the registration form are available at grocery stores, libraries, senior centers and several churches and businesses throughout the Five Health Towns area as well as at www.alimichigan.org.

You will find that the elimination of ALI's administration fee and the renovation of the web site have made registration for ALI's classes much simpler.

SENIOR MOMENT: Jam Session

Gary Munce, co-founder of the Jam Session at CSC, leads the group in a song at a recent Wednesday afternoon session.

It’s no work and all play for the (mostly) amateur musicians who come to play twice a month at the Jam Sessions. Newcomers are welcome.

Submitted by Gretchen Zale

Following in the footsteps of its highly successful first musical undertaking, the Ukulele Group, the Chelsea Senior Center now offers a variety of musical opportunities to its members and friends.

One of them, The Jam Session, was formed by Gary Munce and Kelly Schmidt. Starting with a core group of four or five hearty souls, they envisioned a way to bring more music into the lives of their friends at the Senior Center. Meeting at CSC on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 12:30 pm, the group sees a growing number of people looking for music in their lives, either by participating or by dropping in just to listen.

The musical group now has as many as 10 people who bring their favorite instruments, including violin, guitar, flute, ukelele, harmonica, percussion, mandolin and bass. All ages and levels of musical talent are invited. Many others make up the lively and appreciative audience

Munce says, “The Jam Session is a great way to enjoy life by connecting with others around music. We have the opportunity to experience a variety of music and learn from others in a relaxed and welcoming setting.”

A number of recent surveys and studies have shown that music participation, especially in older people, is the ultimate way to connect and collaborate. Music also enlivens the day and helps trigger memory recall in those living with dementia. A recent feature article in AARP Magazine highlighted the growing body of evidence that music plays an important part in the well-being of seniors, and provides a critical therapeutic avenue for those with brain injury and dysfunction.

CSC member Jim Hughes, who plays guitar and ukelele, has played mandolin at the Chelsea Farmers’ Market and at the Chelsea Retirement Home. He believes that playing with a group like Jam Session is supportive, encouraging, and a life-enriching experience that can be started at any age.

CSC membership is open to all ages. So come along and bring your friends to a Jam Session and plan your time for joy!

April Read & Seed: A Fun Event for Seniors and Preschoolers

Chelsea
Senior Center

Soon after spring's arrival, Chelsea Senior Center's Trinh Pifer Intergenerational Garden will be buzzing with the Read and Seed activity shared by seniors and Chelsea Community Preschool students.

Read & Seed, April 2 and 3, kickstarts Chelsea Senior Center's intergenerational programming for the garden season. Seniors who love interacting with young children are invited to volunteer to read garden books to preschoolers and guide them on the sowing of seeds.

"The kids are enthusiastic and curious gardeners," says Laura Noble, longtime volunteer for the intergenerational garden. "It's always a treat for us seniors to connect with little children. The positive interactions with seniors help boost kids' self-confidence."

Sharing a campus at the Washington Street Education Center affords the Chelsea Senior Center members and the preschoolers this unique opportunity to easily connect in the garden. Teachers bring their students back to check on their crops and taste early produce. The ultimate excitement is when food from this earliest Read and Seed planting activity is used in Camp Gabika summer day camp cooking classes and by seniors who enjoy the senior center's nutritious daily lunches and free farm stand.

Volunteers are needed throughout the spring-to-fall growing season to aid in the sowing, harvest and upkeep of the garden and hoop house. Contact the Chelsea Senior Center to volunteer at (734) 475-9242 or at connected@chelseaseniors.org.

Questions? Contact Sharon Kegerreis, Chelsea Senior Center Outreach and Connections Coordinator, at (734) 475-9242.

Time: 1:47 am

INFORMATION: While on routine patrol an officer observed a black Chevrolet Silverado pickup parked in the center of a parking lot of a closed commercial property. The officer approached the vehicle and found the vehicle to be running and occupied by a male subject in the driver's seat, who appeared to be asleep. After repeatedly knocking on the window of the vehicle, the officer was able to wake the driver up. The driver rolled his window down to speak with the officer and immediately the officer noted a strong odor of alcohol emitting from both the vehicle and his person. The officer questioned the driver on what he had been doing, parked in the middle of the parking lot for and the driver refused to answer any questions. While speaking with the driver it was found that he was in possession of a handgun, which was secured and entered into evidence. The driver refused to perform any standard field sobriety tests or answer any questions. The officer determined that there was enough probable cause to place the driver, identified as a 49-year-old Gregory man under arrest for driving under the influence of alcohol. The suspect was transported to the Chelsea Police Department for processing. The case remains open pending laboratory analysis by the Michigan State Police Crime Lab to determine the level of intoxication.
