The WTKA Top-Dog-of-the-Week is Mimi

Meet super cute and wonderful Mimi! Mimi loves to play and would love a home whose energy level is just as high as hers. She would enjoy a fenced in yard to run and chase after toys with you. But no backyard, no problem - as long as she gets extra walks and fun enrichment during the day! Because Mimi adores attention, she does not want to share you with any other dogs. Call 734-662-5585 to arrange to meet her today!

The W4 Country
Pet-of-the-Week is Sabina

Sabina is a petite little freeracker who LOVES people. She's not one for a first-time dog owner, as she'll require some training to continue learning how to be calm when greeting people and going for walks. Sabina has been in training with her foster family, and has already made great strides! If you're an active person, you will never have a better adventure buddy and Sabina will make it more fun than ever to explore the outdoors and play in the yard. At the end of the day, she'll happily snuggle up to you in a nest of blankets. If she sounds like the best friend you've been waiting for, and if you have a home without other dogs or kids under 12, come meet this lovebug today!

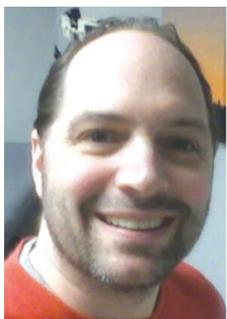

The Lucy Ann Lance Show
Pet-of-the-Week is Little Bit

Little Bit is lazy and proud of it! She would like to adopt a human, or family of humans, who have a calm home with no small children, dogs or other cats. This is where she'll be able to fully relax and get really attached to YOU - the center of her universe! Little Bit is affectionate and loving, and sometimes nervous around new people but will open up once she knows they won't crowd her space. If you sound like the human she's been waiting for, come meet Little Bit today!

By Don Richter
drichter101@comcast.net

Day 17 of quarantine.

Or is it Day 8?

Or is it Day 21?

I don't know, I've lost track.

I'm beginning to feel like legendary recluse billionaire Howard Hughes. My home is now the penthouse of the Desert Inn in Las Vegas (a place Hughes reportedly never left for four straight years from 1966 through 1970). Like Hughes, I'm basically subsisting on chocolate bars and milk. Unlike Hughes, I'm not rich nor do I have maids to clean up my messes.

Like Hughes, since I'm ensconced in my home, I enjoy watching movies on television. Unlike Hughes, I don't have the monetary clout to buy my own TV station. An insomniac, it's said Hughes, while living at the Desert Inn, was distraught the local TV station in Las Vegas wasn't running programs all night long. So, in typical Hughes fashion, he ended up buying the station and turning it into a 24/7 channel.

Problem solved.

If only everything was that easy.

Like Hughes, I and most of the rest of the population, currently have a paranoia regarding germs. Unlike Hughes, I don't have a staff of helpers who receive notes from me concerning the number of tissues needed to carry items in and out of my living room or kitchen.

Micro-manage,

much, Howard?
COVID-19?

I don't know, for me these past few weeks, I think it's been more like COVID-25. As in, it seems like I've gained 25 pounds since this quarantine started.

I've heard of the "Freshman 15" where college students during their first year away from home gain 15 pounds or so stuffing their faces with pizza and fast food, instead of eating sensible and healthy meals like mom used to make at home. But it sure seems as if I've gained way too many pounds these past few weeks. Ugh.

I went grocery shopping last weekend. I despise grocery shopping. For me, grocery shopping is right up there with getting a root canal in terms of enjoyment. Anyhow, last weekend I actually put on pants and drove over to the Country Market.

I was pleasantly surprised at how sparse the parking lot was last weekend at the grocery store. I normally park as far away from the main entrance as possible. I do that because the one thing I loathe more than grocery shopping is parking my car in a grocery store lot (or any lot for that matter). Is it really necessary to speed through the parking lot at 30 miles per hour? Can't we all just park our cars straight and between the lines? You do realize you possess the power, strength and capability to control and properly maneuver your shopping cart, right?

I can't tell you how many times I've almost been hit by people driving their vehicles too fast through a parking Ugly Dog Distillery, one of the oldest craft distilleries in the United States, is now making free bottles of hand sanitizer gel. Ugly Dog Distillery diverted its normal production to making an FDA approved formula of hand sanitizing gel, making the product available to local Chelsea area residents and businesses that are in need, including the Senior Living Centers, the Chelsea Police and Chelsea Fire departments for their use.

"In times of crisis like this we all need to give back to those in need, and we felt that this was a little something we could do to say thank you to those who have supported us," said Ugly Dog Distillery CEO David Salmon said.

With Governor Whitmer's "Stay Home, Stay Safe, Save Lives" order Chelsea State Bank remains open for all business. Our bank lobbies are open by appointment only, and our drive-up banking is available at all three locations offering our full line of banking services," said Rau. "We encourage anyone facing financial difficulties to please call us at 734.475.4210 and speak with a banker. We are here for you in person and on the phone - and online anytime, anywhere, 24/7."

lot. I've lost track of the amount of dings and dents I've found gouged into my car from errant carts and/or careless car doors. I once parked my car in a store lot and, I kid you not, five minutes later came back out to find my driver's side front end had been slammed into and smashed. Of course there was no note and no one waiting to take responsibility. If you lived in Rome in the late 1990s, I'm still looking for you. So, yeah, I'm not a big fan of parking lots.

But last weekend, the Country Market lot in Chelsea was basically deserted. I swear I saw a tumbleweed or two rolling through. So because of the dearth of vehicles, I was able to park a little bit closer than usual to the store's main entrance. That was nice.

Inside the store, it was quiet and slow. Very few people were shopping and there was room to breathe. I found what I needed and headed to the cashier area. Normally a sea of carts and humanity stretching out toward the adjacent grocery aisles, last weekend when I was there, the cashier area was instead a sea of nothingness. Just the shiny, white floor leading me to the cashier rows and eventual freedom.

I picked the first cashier row that was open. A well-dressed gentleman was finishing his transaction and paying with his credit card and walking away as I strolled up to the cashier. The young, vibrant cashier girl smiled and waved at the gentleman as he walked away. She then turned to me and immediately frowned. She then proceeded to pump her giant bottle of Purell, which was next to her register, as fast as she could. I think if she could've taken a Purell shower she would have. Apparently, since I've been cooped up a bit recently, I've forgotten to shave and wash up (I'm a guy) before leaving the house. I must have looked like Tom Hanks' character in the movie "Castaway" after a couple weeks stranded on the island. I was wearing my Michigan State sweatshirt, which also doubles as a bib. I think I put shoes on — though I might have still been in my slippers — I really can't remember.

Anyhow, the young lady rang up my groceries. After paying, she handed me my change along with the receipt. I said "Thank you," while she responded with "You're welcome, have a nice night, sir." Then with the speed and agility of martial artist Bruce Lee in his prime, she swung around in one smooth motion and

Chelsea Area Festivals & Events Update

Chelsea Area Festivals & Events (CAFE), a non-profit organization supporting music and visual arts, is evaluating upcoming events in response to the ongoing concerns with COVID-19. Decisions for Sounds & Sights on Thursday Nights and the Sounds & Sights Festival will be announced mid to late April.

"We appreciate everyone's understanding of these extraordinary times and will keep our community updated as the next steps are determined in the coming weeks. We will closely monitor the Governor's advisories while we determine the most appropriate action," said CAFE Board President

Craig Common.

"We want to thank our sponsors, performers, and guests for their support and encouragement. As everyone has been reminding us, great things happen when our community comes together at Sounds & Sights. We will be working with our partners to finalize the details and will share more information about our plans after April 15."

Life During Coronavirus

By Dave Merchant
dmerchant9701@yahoo.com

Life isn't always easy. I can remember many times that this has been the case.

This right now is very different than what I anticipate anyone has ever come in contact with.

This virus is truly a battle, some may even say a war.

I wonder how many people in the health care industry would agree. These doctors and nurses have been and continue to be fighters that are very strong and very good at what they do.

They need supplies and they need help. Part of that help is for people to remain quarantined and stay in houses and other living spaces.

President Donald Trump has been very supportive. Trying to get money sent to people in response to this hardship. He and the government are doing this to help the citizens of this great nation.

I am not sure I would have wanted some kind of warning about this sooner than we got it.

How can a disease in China affect the entire world. It is causing death and shut down

CHELSEA BULLDOGS SPORTS SCHEDULES ALL SPRING SPORTS ARE CANCELLED AT THIS TIME

Dear Patrons and Donors,

The Purple Rose Theatre is dark. All that lights our stage is a tall, thin lamp with a naked bulb.

Our ghost light. Most theatres have them.

Some say the ghost light is there to keep spirits away. Others say it appeases them. Others without magic in their bones say it's simply for safety.

Across the world right now, ghost lights stand sentinel on empty stages. Many of us have paused productions and walked away not knowing when we'll get back. But just as our ghost light shines on our empty stage, we each have a light within us to keep the bad spirits at bay, to help our spirits shine.

One day soon, our ghost light will be switched off and our house lights will come up again. Our stage lights will shine in our empty theatre as we wait for you to enter. From our booth, our stage manager will call out, "attention everyone we are a half-hour to the top the show" and our actors and crew will respond, "thank you, half-hour!" Upstairs, you will gather in the lobby. Our house manager will welcome you to our theatre, thank our sponsors, and remind you to turn off your cell phone (please).

When our lights come back on, we want to be ready for you. As it stands, we are looking at a nearly $200,000 loss in ticket revenue and the remainder of our 29th season is uncertain. This has a devastating impact on our organization and our ability to deliver on our promises to our patrons and our artists.

Our founder, Jeff Daniels, is offering to help sustain us through our dark time with a challenge to you. He will match any gift dollar-for-dollar raised by April 30, 2020 (up to $20,000). Please consider being a light in these dark times with a gift of any size. To donate please visit purplerosetheatre.org/giving/ and click on the Give Now tab.

In the meantime, keep your own light burning brightly inside of you. Take precautions and be safe. Envision the future where we can leave our homes for more than groceries and medicine. Remember what it's like to dine out and enjoy a play... and when the world is ready to venture out again, we'll be here for you.

We wish you all the best as we all navigate this new world together.

Sincerely,
Guy Sanville

Chelsea Fire Fighters bringing smiles to Chelsea

Pictured is the Chelsea Fire Department who visited Hanna Brodeur and helped celebrate her 21st birthday.

From Chelsea Area Fire Fighters We are all living through unprecedented times and this can become very difficult, especially for the little ones in our homes.

They are scared, confused and don't understand what is going on. They can't see family or friends, they are locked inside and might not be able to celebrate that upcoming birthday.

Chelsea Area Fire Fighters has been bringing smiles to Chelsea residents by celebrating their birthdays with them. The fire fighters have been visiting homes with a fire truck along with other goodies for the birthday child. While practicing social distancing, they have been turning on lights and siren and leaving a present on the doorstep.

Recently Chelsea Area Fire Fighters helped Hanna Brodeur celebrate her 21st birthday.

Announcement From Inverness Country Club Regarding Covid-19 Executive Order

A message from the ICC Board of Directors:
Dear Members:
We were all looking forward to the official opening of ICC on April 1st, but with the current executive order in place (https://www.michigan.gov/wher/0,9309,7-387-90499_90705-522626--,00.html), this will not happen until April 14th at the earliest. Unfortunately, the Covid-19 pandemic is an issue this spring and Michigan's shelter-in-place order is certainly to be heeded so that we can get this behind us as soon as possible. Please be smart, cautious, and practice social distancing when you do venture out for essentials. As more information becomes available, we will provide additional updates.

On behalf of the ICC Board, we hope all of you and your families stay safe and healthy and we hope to see everyone on the course soon. Best Regards, fession and how long have you been in this field?
ICC Board of Directors

Business Consulting since 1995, real estate since 1999 – I am currently working in real estate with The MORE Group of MI and my personal business consulting company is My Business Advisor, LLC.

Your family members:

Brian (husband), Joe (son), Amanda Daniels (daughter), Ben Daniels (son-in-law), Della (granddaughter) -listed are those who live locally.

People think of me as Quiet but really I am Measured.

When did you move to Chelsea? Where did you live prior to this?

I moved to Chelsea in 2013, prior to that I lived 10 years in Celebration, FL

What do you love about where you currently live?

My family is close by.

If you could have a second home anywhere, where would it be?

The beautiful coastline state of Florida.

What three words describe your style?

Classic, French Country, Elegant.

Who or what do you believe influenced your style the most?

I am influenced by what I like more so than fads or trends.

What is one trend in design you do NOT like?

Contemporary.

As you think about the home in which you grew up, what elements did you like and do you think you have incorporated some of them in your own home?

I enjoyed the coordination of color and comfort that was displayed and I have included these in my own home.

Have you ever built a new home or remodeled an existing one?

Yes, I have done both.

Have you ever sought professional help with the interior design of your home - if so, what did you find most helpful?

No I haven't. I use magazines as inspiration and use my own creativity to achieve similar results. However, I have recommended design services to real estate clients.

Which room in your home gets the most use?

Our living room.

If you were moving and could only pick one item from your home to keep, which would it be and why?

My grandmother's "dishes", as these have tremendous sentimental value to me.

No room is complete without:

Pillows.

I tend to be: a minimalist by nature.

If you are a pet owner, how has that influenced your choices in design, if it has?

Yes, but more architecturally than in interior design choices, such as a fenced in yard with easy access to the fenced area.

Has any local venue particularly caught your eye - if so why?

Not really, but outdoor venues such as the summer festivals are fun.

What are you currently doing to pass the time during the COVID-19 State shutdown?

As a business consultant, I am a problem solver. Since the shutdown, I have turned my problem solving skills into creative artistry. I began challenging myself to create different looks with hair and makeup. I will watch how-to videos to learn how different looks are achieved. I'm having a lot of fun with it because it allows a tremendous amount of creativity, especially considering I don't have costumes or the right makeup on hand. Kitty's note: Cathy and I met at my business open house in 2018. I am discovering how deep her creativity and business sense run. To that statement, she has recently authored an e-book and was scheduled for a book tour/speaking engagement in Florida in April, called Mindset Reset, which has now been postponed due to the current world situation. This is a women's empowerment series. I hope to work with Cathy more in the future in our design-real estate relationship.

Life During Coronavirus

 all over the world and the United States.

Look at Italy, the country has had more death and mayhem than China. This is crazy to think because look at the size of the countries and the number of people.

It shouldn't happen like that.

People are not working and being at home twenty four hours a day and seven days a week. The Big Three Auto Companies are idle. Businesses and stores are idle. The roads are like a ghost town. Almost like Christmas.

More like a permanent Christmas.

I work at Home

Depot. Let me tell you what a great company they are. They cut the hours six to six and have added 80 hours of emergency pay for full-times and 40 hours for part-time. This time is to be used as the worker sees fit.

If they get sick and are quarantined the company will pay them for 14 days. I would call this pretty golden. Wouldn't you?

Schools are closed and may not be re-open for months.

People are home schooling. This year will have a strange end to it. In fact, it could be possible to not go back to school until January 1. Think about that.

Winter sports just got into the post season as they were cancelled.

Forget about Spring sports and even professional sports are off.

This is big money so who knows when ever it will be back.

In the past, wars were fought with guns and ammunition. Now it is gloves, masks, respirators and test kits.

A silent war with many casualties and no one is immune.

Instead of being up in arms and out fighting we are staying to ourselves and self-confinement.

Be strong, be alert and be smart.
