Chelsea City Council Meeting

By Aimee Bingham Osinski
anbingham@gmail.com

The Chelsea City Council meeting opened with a reminder regarding decorum, respect and being civil. I did not witness the last meeting, but based on the request, I can only glean that it was a tense one.

The consent agenda passed. The agenda was up next and councilmember Iannelli asked to add an item to the agenda and make an edit. He wanted to add a recommendation from the HRC that the city partners with the Chamber, Public Library to help spread the word about a DEI training provided for local businesses by St. Joe's. The mayor voiced concern that the public did not have the opportunity to review the information and in the spirit of being a public body, the public should have the chance to view and weigh in on the information. After some back and forth John Hanifan clarified that as long as there is no financial consideration the council can amend and act. The

The next item on the agenda was public comment. The mayor noted that residents were upset by the behavior during the last meeting and requested civility. Joanne Ladio spoke first. She spoke on accusations made during the previous meeting against One World One Family. She noted that the issue stemmed from an article that was published a year ago. And that there was some sort of accusation of One World One Family being associated with Freedom Fighters. Joanne was firm that this is a lie. There is no connection or association.

Mike Macintosh spoke next. He thanked Councilmember Albertson for standing up and Hanifan as well. He feels that members on the council and in the public are misdirecting information. He resents that because he has a sign supporting the police that he is called a racist. He explained that there needs to be a dialog. There is now a lot of ranting and yelling.

There was no further public comment.

The next item on the agenda was a presentation from the Human Rights Commission. The Michigan Department of Civil Rights presented a four hour training for council and staff. 26 people attended and 17 people took a subsequent survey on the training. The City was provided a four step method to improve, based on the survey. The HRC is recommending the city implement the suggestions. The HRC would like to create a civility month in November. The Chelsea District Library will be hosting a civil discourse workshop and the HRC would like to build on the program during the month of November. The training added to the agenda was discussed. The role of the City would be to help publicize the event. Councilmembers wanted more information on the details of the event. Councilmembers provided the HRC with suggestions on the civility month including the schools and Silver Maples. The HRC will be back with more information on civility month as the planning and details are put in place.

Council business was addressed next. Planning commission appointments needed to be made. All three applicants were appointed after some discussion. Two of the three have family members that serve on other boards. Since they'd previously served and there were no other applicants they were appointed rather than waiting to see if more people applied. There is a council rule that if other members serve on boards, they should not be selected if there are other applicants.

Next on the agenda was the DEI assessment from the Michigan Department of Civil Rights. The HRC is encouraging the council to put together a committee to complete an organizational DEI assessment. After discussion, it was determined that the council currently has a lot to digest and complete. And given the resources needed, the council agreed to place it on the visioning session agenda in October.

The addition to the agenda was up next. The HRC was in favor of the city creating a training partnership with the library, chamber and St. Joe's to provide local businesses DEI training. The role of the HRC is to help spread the words and get people registered. After much discussion and clarification that the process of getting an item on the agenda should be followed and completed in a timely fashion, mistakes should be owned and the like. The council agreed to the partnership with more information provided at the next meeting.

The next item was a development agreement for Heritage Farms within Heritage Pointe. Upfal included slight changes that needed to be made. Councilmember Albertson noted the due diligence done. The motion passed.

The fourth item was the in-car video system and body cameras for the police department. The Chief explained his preference and the reason.

The Axon system is the gold standard. If a taser or weapon is drawn the camera is automatically triggered. In a potentially high stress system, the police don't have another item to remember. It has redaction capability if a juvenile is involved or if an event takes place in a hospital or school. The price was included in the budget and the council approved.

The fifth item was unfortunately not budgeted. It was a request for purchase of a Kenworth T880 Semitruck. The truck the city was using unexpectedly needs replacement. It is 31 years old and in need of 40k worth of repairs. It could die at any moment after repairs. The city has done very well with spreading capital improvement costs. The truck was next on the agenda to be replaced but it did not survive. After getting two separate financing quotes, the city approved the purchase for the lowest financing.

The final item on the agenda was the request to Accept Coronavirus Fiscal Recovery Funds Under the American Rescue Act. Garber provided the various options and her suggestion was to accept the funds. There was some curiosity if the funds could be used for a semi. Typically the funds are for broadband, water and wastewater, and community assistance. The Council decided to accept the funds and determine how they will be used in October or February of 2022.

The City manager and police chief provided reports. So too did council members. Bobcat is about to get started with the audit. Council members were encouraged to not direct the audit and thus impact the outcome. If members of the public would like to be included, email John Hanifan and he will pass along the information. However, due to the nature of the audit, it might be a better study if the group finds people to interview on its own. People requesting to be a part may be emotionally invested in an outcome one way or another.

The meeting then adjourned.

Crowdfunding Campaign Launched for the 'Border to Border Trail – Chelsea Connection'

$50,000 goal to win matching grant through MEDC's Public Spaces Community Places initiative

From: Mackenzie Wisniewski, Assistant Director, Huron Waterloo Pathways Initiative

A new segment of the Border-to-Border (B2B) Trail in Washtenaw County will reach downtown Chelsea through a crowdfunding campaign, Huron Waterloo Pathways Initiative (HWPI) and the Michigan Economic Development Corporation and the nonprofit Huron announced today. The campaign is being offered through the Michigan-based crowdfunding platform Patronicity.

If the campaign reaches its crowdfunding goal of $50,000 by September 15, the project will win a matching grant with funds made possible by MEDC's Public Spaces Community Places program. For project details and to donate, please visit: patronicity.com/b2b-trail

"Creating connectivity between our public trails brings our communities together and provides new recreational opportunities for our residents," said MEDC Senior Vice President of Community Development Michele Wildman. "We are pleased to support and provide resources for this project through our Public Spaces Community Places program."

Huron Waterloo Pathway Initiative, in partnership with Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation (WCPARC) and the city of Chelsea, is building an extension of the Border-to-Border Trail that will connect you directly into Downtown Chelsea. This one-mile trail segment will provide trail users, businesses, visitors, and residents direct access to downtown to enjoy shopping, dining, and recreation along the trail.

This new section of trail will begin at Veterans Park, winding through Timbertown, and continue one mile north on a road separated path on M-52. The trailhead at Timbertown features extensive parking, restrooms, picnic pavilions and a play area. This section of the trail is part of a larger B2B Trail plan that will eventually connect Chelsea to Stockbridge. The trail will not only connect to downtown Chelsea but will traverse Michigan DNR's Pinckney and Waterloo Recreation area. This trail connection will add to the existing 4.8 miles of trail that were constructed in 2018-2020.

"HWPI is pleased to partner with the MEDC on the Border-to-Border Trail Chelsea Connector. When complete, residents and visitors will be able to connect directly into downtown Chelsea from the trail to access restaurants, shopping, and the recreational facilities at Timber Town and Veterans Park," said Jeff Hardcastle, HWPI Board Chair. "This project is part of a series of dynamic connections that will significantly enhance non-motorized trail access in Western Washtenaw County."

Public Spaces Community Places is a collaborative effort of the MEDC, the Michigan Municipal League, and Patronicity, in which local residents can use crowdfunding to be part of the development of strategic projects in their communities and be backed with a matching grant from MEDC. Communities, nonprofits and other business entities can apply at <https://patronicity.com/pure-michigan>.

"The Michigan Municipal League is a firm believer in building community wealth in ways that build on existing assets and enhance the human experience for everyone," said MML CEO and Executive Director Dan Gilmartin. "Expanding the Bor-

Walberg Introduces Legislation to Expand Health Care Options for Small Businesses

From: Dan Kotman

U.S. Representative Tim Walberg (MI-07) introduced the Association Health Plans Act of 2021 (H.R. 4547), legislation to expand health care options and lower costs for small businesses through association health plans (AHPs). Walberg was joined by Rep. Michael C. Burgess, M.D. (TX-26); Rick Allen (GA-12), Republican Leader of the House Subcommittee on Health, Employment, Labor, and Pensions; and Rep. Virginia Foxx (NC-05), Republican Leader of the Committee on Education and Labor, in introducing the legislation.

Upon introduction, Rep. Tim Walberg said:

“The high cost of health care remains a struggle for small businesses, many of whom are still facing pandemic-related hardship. Association health plans are a commonsense solution that empower small employers and their employees when making health coverage decisions. By providing small businesses with greater bargaining power, it allows them to offer more quality options for workers at a better price. Our bill would expand pathways to more affordable health care for families in Michigan and across the country.”

Rep. Michael C. Burgess, M.D. said:

“Americans value the freedom of individualism and want the same when choosing a health insurance plan. Association health plans expand the opportunity for Americans to choose insurance that meets their needs, and for employers to provide quality insurance to their employees. Having owned my own practice, I understand the value of these plans, which allow employers to partner together to offer quality coverage that can be more affordable. These health plans are a step toward expanding our options and restoring our personal liberty in our health care system. I urge Congress to pass this legislation to make health care flexibility the law of the land.”

Rep. Rick Allen said:

“As a small businessman, I understand how much employers want to provide quality health coverage for their employees, and Association Health Plans provide that opportunity for small business owners. I thank Rep. Walberg for introducing this bill and I look forward to continuing efforts to modernize America's health care for employers of all sizes.”

Rep. Virginia Foxx said:

“As Americans recover from the COVID-19 pandemic, and businesses claw their way back from an economic recession, now is the time for Congress to cut regulatory red tape and allow small business owners to band together to offer affordable, comprehensive health coverage through association plans. I am proud to support this commonsense bill which removes barriers to health coverage and allows millions of workers and job creators to have the freedom to choose a health care plan that works for them.”

Farm to Table Event to Benefit 5 Healthy Towns Foundation's Farmers Markets

Chelsea inaugurated the series in August 2016. Alber's Orchard was the country setting for the 2018 event.

From: Shawn Personke

We've come full circle. The sixth annual 5 Healthy Towns Farm to Table Fabulous Feast will take place on Sunday, Aug. 29, 2021, at 4 p.m. at the Grass Lake Community Park & Pavilion.

For the past 5 years, the fundraising dinner traveled to each of the five healthy towns. In 2016, Chelsea presented the first dinner, followed by Grass Lake, Manchester, Dexter, and, in 2020, Stockbridge.

Now the circuit begins again.

This year's chair, Sabrina Edgar, manager of the Grass Lake Farmers Market, is joined by community members from the other four towns.

"Hosting the Farm to Table dinner is a great way to showcase your town, celebrate the farmers, and local food."

"One of our goals when we first started organizing the dinner was to build bonds between the communities," Edgar added. "Through the planning committees, I've met some cool people. And on the day of the event, it's great to see all these people from the 5H towns, getting to know each other, visiting about mutual friends, sharing connections, and talking about local food and the importance of our farmers."

With Grass Lake celebrating its 150th anniversary, it's a double bit of fun.

"All of Grass Lake is bubbling about the sesquicentennial and we're glad we could include the dinner as part of the celebration," she said.

Edgar said she also wants people to know that the committee is planning for a Covid-safe event.

"We're providing more tables in the fresh air under the pavilion and tent so that people can eat and socialize with some space," she said.

Chelsea's market manager, Emily Griswold, has been lining up the chefs to prepare the food donated and purchased from each of the five farmers markets. While the menu is still being fine-

Dexter's Farm to Table planning committee tuned, she is excited to welcome back chefs from Smokehouse 52, Roaming Goat, and Silver Maples, with Common Grill providing the rolls. Additions to this year's chef team include Chef Savur, Chelsea Burger, Kitchen Little, Chelsea Alehouse, and Jolly Pumpkin. Lone Oak Vineyards is providing the wine, and Jolly Pumpkin, the beer.

"Lone Oak has a new dessert wine that we're including as a tasting to accompany the dessert course," said Griswold.

For the past three years, the event has also held an auction. This year's online auction opens August 8 and runs through 3 p.m. on August 29. At that time, the most popular items head to a live auction format. Items are still being collected, but current highlights include a stay near the coast of Italy and a Dinner for 4 Prepared in Your Home by Chef Savur!

Stephen Petty, the new CEO of the 5 Healthy Towns Foundation, is excited to experience the Fabulous Feast and meet committee members who have been working on the event.

"One of the primary pillars of the 5 Healthy Towns Foundation," said Petty, "is to encourage people to eat better, which in turn helps ensure better long-term health outcomes. Our farmers markets play an essential role in the five communities to support greater access to fresh, local foods at affordable prices."

He added that the markets also provide a great opportunity for community residents to stay connected locally, offering music and other events that encourage people to come together.

"Our communities love their farmers markets and the Foundation is happy to support the annual Farm to Table event. Congratulations to the 2021 Fabulous Feast to benefit the Chelsea Farmers Market, Dexter Winter Marketplace, Grass Lake Farmers Market, Open Air Market of Stockbridge, and the Acorn/Manchester Farmers Market and Cafe."

The Fossil Creek Band or "Creekers" are known for their fun-loving, energetic performing style, tight harmonies, and original bluegrass tunes.

The East Middle Street stage features Brian Brickley & the Martindales with a mix of blues and rock. Just past the railroad tracks, the Elvis tribute band, The Devil Elvis Show, performs a rock revue at the Glazier Building.

Around the corner, Ellis & M.E. perform eclectic acoustic at the Clocktower Gazebo. Their groove comes from a creative blend of wood & strings, innovative songwriting, tight vocal harmonies. At The Grateful Crow restaurant, Jacob Sigman performs soul and pop.

While strolling downtown, visitors can explore the new installation of SculptureWalk Chelsea, a self-guided walking tour of 16 juried sculptures.

CHELSEA ATHLETICS

ON THE SIDELINE: WALKING CANES, LAWN, GROCERIES AND PIZZA

By Don Richter
drichter101@comcast.net

So it's Week 8 of my doctor-imposed, couch-ridden isolation from the rest of the world.

Somebody please help me. I'm losing my mind sitting on my couch and using crutches to get around. My arm pits are scaly, red and chafed. My one good leg is turning into a bad leg since I'm using it so much to hobble around. And the walls and furniture of my house are scuffed, chipped and gouged because of the numerous times I've smashed into them with my crutches. The innards of my house look like I've been engaged in an eight-week nunchuck battle with Bruce Lee.

Eight weeks ago, I jumped off the roof of my shed and fractured my tibia just below the knee, partially tore my calf muscle, twisted my ankle, injured my heel and somehow cracked a rib. Why would I do something like that? I don't know. I'm a guy and forgot I'm not 25 anymore, I guess.

Anyway, ever since then I've been relegated to my couch per my doctor's orders. Though after four weeks of doing nothing but resting, icing, compressing and elevating my injured leg, I couldn't take the boredom and isolation anymore and decided, crutches and all, to go back to work in a limited capacity.

I must say, throughout this entire ordeal, people have been amazing. I've received help for many different things from many different people.

From my work colleague driving 45 minutes out of her way on a Tuesday to pick me up at my house and take me to urgent care the day after I injured myself. Then finish part of her job and come back later to pick me up from urgent care and take me home. She even brought a cane she had from her house to help me walk. And, to top it all off, she stopped at Culver's on the way home so I could get a double butter burger, fries and a chocolate malt. Thank you, Lori.

My neighbor, Ted, has been cutting my lawn for the past eight weeks. I'm a little jealous — my lawn actually looks better since he's been cutting it. I don't know what his secret is, but a part of me kinda wants to remain injured so my lawn can continue looking so nice. I'm kidding — sort of. He's a U-M fan and I'm an MSU guy. Who says Wolverines and Spartans can't get along? Thanks, so much, Ted. I owe you.

To my immediate family, thank you. My goodness, I haven't seen my family this much since we all lived together in the same house when we were younger. Almost every week someone from my family has visited to keep me company and bring groceries or something from fast food for me to munch on. Heck, my brother-in-law trimmed some of my bushes out front of my house for me last week, while my 6-foot-3, 245-pound nephew, a former Marine, brought me some history books to read (we both love the subject) and, along with my sister (his Mom), weeded part of my flower and shrub beds.

My significant other has been wonderful, as well. Though living an hour and a half away (to be closer to her job) she's making an effort to help out and nurture her "big dummy" of a man who doesn't "have enough sense" to use a ladder to get down off a roof. She loves me so much... Hi honey. Yes, I'll "hurry up and heal!" Ludington is still beautiful in August and September — I promise.

And finally, I couldn't close this column without giving a shout out to my peeps at Cottage Inn in Chelsea. I'm sure all of you read my column every week. I hear there are actual bare-knuckle brawls (and these are just the young ladies who work there) to see who gets to read my column first each week. Anyway, aside from my humble brag, thank you all so much for going the extra mile for me — your injured customer.

I order Cottage Inn quite often, especially since I've been injured. I initially asked to have my pizza delivered to my front door, which has two bushes next to it. My back door is adjacent to my driveway and the door every pizza delivery person has knocked on in the 14 years I've lived in my house. Because of my injury, and because my couch is closer, I asked to have my pizza delivered to my front door. To my happiness, my pizza was brought to my house and delivered to my front door.

That initial "front door" request was eight weeks ago. Now, ever since, every time I order from Cottage Inn, the person on the other end of the phone asks, "Do you want your pizza delivered to the back door or the front door with the bushes?" I always chuckle to myself and smile when I hear this question. "Only in a small town," I say to myself. I love it.

Heck, Cottage Inn even went so far as to deliver a sub and a 2-liter of pop to me while I was at work at a property in Chelsea. It was past their "normal operating hours" but I explained my situation and how it would be difficult for me to get to their business to pick up my order. When the young lady delivered my sub and 2-liter of pop to the place where I was working, I thanked her profusely for going out of her way, especially since it was officially past her working hours. She smiled and laughed and said, "It's okay, I don't mind. I heard you were the "crutches guy" and I remembered you. I hope you feel better."

Only in a small town.

Thank you everyone.

Eight weeks into my injury.

I feel better already...

PETER IS GIFTED

Hobbies for him include biking, playing the piano, violin, and mandolin, running, strength training, composing music.

Favorite classes are many for this intelligent young man. "All the science classes I have taken are my favorites," he said. "It's hard to choose a favorite teacher because Chelsea has so many great teachers, but Mr. Nathan Peters, who teaches orchestra in Chelsea and is my violin teacher, has taught me a lot over the years." College has yet to be chosen but he will be there in the future for sure. "I want to make the world a better place through a career in the sciences," commented. "I live with my mom, dad, and younger brother."

"My parent's names are Emily Kuo and Ron Mourad. My mom is a lawyer (she only practices in Illinois) and my dad is the provost at Albion College. My brother's name is Luke and he is a rising freshman that also goes to Chelsea." Advice to younger athletes and scholars is pretty wise. "Don't be afraid to try something new, especially since there are so many opportunities at Chelsea High School," he said. "Make sure to balance athletics, the arts, and academics, because they all enrich your life."

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) Training

From: Susan Morrel-Samuels

The training will take place via Zoom on August 10th, 6:30-8:30. The event is free and open to all. Registration is available on the Chelsea District Library's Events Calendar.

Event Details:

The workplace should be a welcoming environment for every employee, but it isn't always simple to achieve a culture of inclusivity. CDL and the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce invite business owners, employers, and the general public to join us for a presentation on how to promote DEI in your workplace. Learn about some of the practices that were used at the St. Joseph Mercy Chelsea Hospital, and how to apply them in your own business and life.

St. Joseph Mercy Chelsea Hospital will share why having a deliberate focus on creating a culture that embraces diversity by recognizing the uniqueness of individuals, communities, groups and their perspectives and experiences is critical for optimal organizational performance. SJMC believes that optimal organization performance can only be achieved if a conscious and deliberate effort is present to continuously work towards the creation of an accepting and nurturing work climate where similarities and differences are respected, supported and valued. SJMC is on a journey to create an environment where an individual's authentic self is welcomed and celebrated.
