The Dexter Creamery

By Aimee Bingham Osinski
anbingham@gmail.com

The sun was shining and the time changed. Temps were mild for Michigan and volunteer flowers sprung up in the front yard, purple and yellow. It felt like the long dark winter was over. I knew from experience and the weather report, that more snow was coming. But I felt like celebrating. Last weekend, I noticed the Deter Creamery was open. So I decided to take the family and celebrate the early short-lived Michigan spring, fools spring as some people call it. I was ready to turn my face to the sun, soak it in and smile. The last time I'd been was several years prior when the Creamery hosted an event for Chelsea MOPS.

My daughter's face lit up with all the top-

The Dexter Creamery

continued from page 1 ping options. Truth be told, so did mine. We followed the one-way safety setup noted and went to create our own ice cream. The big problem with the Dexter Creamery is FOMO and making a decision. I opted for peanut butter cup ice cream and loaded it with as many chocolate toppings as I could without spilling. I was the proverbial kid in a candy store without shame. I noticed that I was not alone in my childlike joy. My daughter and husband were enthusiastically selecting toppings. We paid, grabbed spoons and napkins, and went to the car to enjoy. We also grabbed a gallon that caught my eye before leaving. The magic spoons that change color with temperature was a source of joy for my daughter.

I appreciated the safety protocols in place since I am still waiting for my turn to be vaccinated. It was nice to see the protocols in place but to still be able to feel a childlike joy in the shop, which I did. The staff was very friendly and helpful. And our visit was excellent. The Creamery does offer online ordering and curbside pick-up for those of you, not ready to be inside, but ready to celebrate spring and enjoy some local ice cream. Visit their website here: <http://dextercreamery.com/>. Our visit was the highlight of the weekend for my family. If you need a little joy, it's not hard to find at the Dexter Creamery.

Favorite coach: "Varsity Basketball Coach: Coach Rushton. Because his way of coaching pushes the players to better themselves every day, and it shows how much he cares about our improvement."

Future plans: "Not quite sure yet, but right now I am interested in Computer Science and want to follow that subject into college," he said.

Why basketball? "I first started playing basketball because it was just something my parents had me do to stay active as a kid a few times a week," he stated. "As I grew a little older I found enjoyment in playing it a lot more. Being tall was also a big factor for why I play because it gives me a solid advantage over other players."

Parents and siblings: "I have three siblings: Two older and one younger," he said. My older siblings names are Stephen and Mitchell, and my younger brother's name is Gabe.

"All have played basketball before, but compared to my two older brothers I have stuck with basketball the longest. Although I am the middle child, I am the tallest of all of them and I am also taller than both my parents." My parents are Steve and Beckie Sterlitz.

Hobbies: Some of his hobbies include video games, reading, working out, and playing guitar.

Advice for younger athletes: "One of the best pieces of advice I can give younger athletes is to enjoy themselves while they play and try to have a positive mindset so you can be the best teammate to those who play alongside you," he added. "The last thing you want on a team is someone giving off negative energy."

WASHTENAW FALLS TO SKYRON, 3-0

Photos By Jaime Crawford

In mid-February Washtenaw United Girls' HS Ice Hockey team shocked Skyron's (Skyline/Huron) squad by beating them 5-4. Last night, in a rematch that followed Skyron's Senior Night on Washtenaw's hosted ice, the game played out very differently. Washtenaw, despite going into the game confidently, was unable to get the puck to bounce their way, including having a goal waved off in the 2nd period.

The game started well with Washtenaw's Jillian Eggleston (Dexter '22) taking the first shot on Skyron's goalie, Jillian Cook. But the tide turned quickly to Skyron's favor as Salsabeel Hodge scored on an unassisted goal at 12:50. Play continued to be strong in both ends of the ice with shots on Cook by Eggleston, Sydney Clark (Saline '25) and Ceclia Henriksen (Chelsea '24). A strong defensive move by Skyron thwarted Washtenaw's Linzy Costella (Manchester '21) on one of her few breakaways of the night. In Washtenaw's defensive zone goalie Julia Scarcella (Saline '22) made 15 saves in the first period including two on breakaways and a last minute bouncer at the :30 second mark.

Skyron opened the 2nd period with a goal by Ava Heung, with assists from Keelyn Schumann and Abby Cullen. At 10:32 Washtenaw pulled a puck out of the scrum in front of Skyron's Cook and appeared to put it in the open net over her right shoulder. The officials, however, said that Cook had the puck covered, or that they'd lost sight of the puck and so had blown their whistle prior to the goal. Disappointed, Washtenaw defense Rylee Kennedy (Milan '24), Julia Berkholz (Dexter '24), Riley Malloy (Saline '24) and Eggleston went to work to deny any more goals despite Skyron getting an additional 10 shots on Scarcella.

Washtenaw was able to get sustained pressure in Skyron's end in the 3rd period as forwards Chloe Dillen (Saline '24), Raegan Kopitsch (Dexter '24), Makeena Lupi (Saline '22), Reese Caryl (Saline '22) and Kathryn WInters (Saline '23) kept the movement in Skyron's end but were unable to put the puck behind Cook in the Skyron net. With only :50 seconds remaining in the game a rebound from a Washtenaw shot on Cook sent Skyron's Meg Vandermark on a breakaway as Scarcella was changing for the extra player. Despite Scarcella's heroic dive, Vandermark was able to put the puck in the net to give Skyron the 3-0 win. Cook made 8 saves in the game. Scarcello logged 36 saves for the night.

Next up for Washtenaw is their Senior Night on Saturday (3/13) night when they host Livonia United at 5:30 p.m. On Monday, March 15th at 5:30 p.m. Washtenaw hosts University Liggett. Liggett is currently the top team in the Michigan Girls HS Hockey League with an 8-0-0 record. Both games are at the Ann Arbor Ice Cube which allows limited spectators.

INFORMATIONAL ADDENDUM:

Washtenaw United is a High School Girls' Hockey Team skating out of the Ann Arbor Ice Cube. The team serves High Schools within Washtenaw County that do not have a dedicated team to play for. Currently, Pioneer and the combined Skyline-Huron have dedicated teams. Washtenaw United is made up of players from Saline, Dexter, Chelsea, Manchester, and Milan. The team is in its first year of play, and is an affiliate member of the Michigan Girls High School Hockey League (MGHSHL) with plans of full membership into the league for the 2021-22 season.

Deer Doctor makes a virtual house call to Ann Arbor

From: Wendy Welch

In 2015, Ann Arbor City Council approved a four-year deer management plan including shooting deer in city limits; 2020 was the fifth year. To date, Ann Arbor has spent over $750,000 on deer management, including $469,700 to contracted sharpshooters who have also been counting the deer. In 2020, their aerial survey counted 137 deer in the city, versus 224 the year previous.

“As a community leader faced with the impact of deer damage in parks, yards, and gardens, and conflict among your constituents regarding an effective solution, you are not alone,” writes Sandy Baker, known nationwide as the “Deer Doctor” for her track record in helping communities solve their deer-related challenges.

Baker will be presenting a free seminar entitled “How to Deer Proof Your Garden,” for area residents on Saturday, April 17 from 10 – 11:30 a.m. She’ll be including a customizable 5-step strategy to working with nature to keep your plants protected. One key to planting success, she says, is understanding deer behavior.

“We are delighted to host the nationally acclaimed ‘Deer Doctor,’” says Tanya Hilgendorf, CEO and president of the Humane Society of Huron Valley. “We’ve heard from so many folks who love the deer and want to co-exist peacefully with wildlife. And even for those who don’t like deer, there are many inexpensive and ecological-friendly tools folks can use without resorting to shooting.”

In 2015, the City conducted an online survey, gathering responses from approximately 2,200 residents (~2% of the city’s population). Just over 900 reported deer damage to their garden plants or landscape, though nearly 700 said they had not taken measures to prevent damage. Over 73% of respondents said they enjoyed seeing deer in the City.

“We applaud the City for their website encouraging non-lethal solutions. And we hope the expensive and ineffective culls don’t return. Scientists and wildlife biologists confirm that Ann Arbor does not have an overpopulation of deer. And now that we’re approaching year 6 of a 4-year plan, we’ve seen that trying to shoot away the problem is expensive, ineffective, controversial, unsafe, and inhumane. The problem is that there are some deer in places that some don’t want them. The most effective and inexpensive way to address concerns is through site-specific mitigation,” says Hilgendorf.

“We want to help. The push for culling originally came from frustrated gardeners. With better education and strategy we can help those who are experiencing frustration, prevent further frustration, and save the City taxpayer money so that it can be directed where the majority of Ann Arborites really want it to go,” says Hilgendorf. “We also believe our community and our public officials have way bigger priorities over an expensive and highly controversial deer cull.”

The “Gardening with Deer” online workshop is free and open to the public. For more information on the workshop and for the link to join, go to hshv.org/gardenwithdeer.

The Ann Arbor's 107one Pet-of-the-Week is Stranger

Looking for a young, sweet and active dog? Stranger might be the girl for you! She needs to go to a home without children under 5 years old, just to make sure no one gets knocked down when she happily romps through the house! Stranger is a very affectionate dog, but needs some training to help boost her confidence and to learn proper manners. Once Stranger is fully comfortable with her new family and home, she will make a wonderful companion. If you're looking forward to helping Stranger become more of a superstar every day, come in and meet her!

The WTKA Top-Dog-of-the-Week is Kash

Kash is a big boy looking for a dog-savvy family who can give him a great home! Kash can be a little shy around new people at first, so he'll need someone who can go very slow with him. His adopter must also continue Kash's daily training, and provide him with structure and a routine. Kash will thrive in a home with adults only and no other animals, where he can get tons of mental enrichment and physical exercise! If his world is designed for his success, he does well and would make a wonderful fur friend—but Kash is the type of dog who needs you to adapt to his needs rather than him easily fitting into any lifestyle. If you have experience with large dogs and you've been doing looking a new steadfast companion, please consider Kash!
